

My husband and I are very pleased with the do not call law. Our phone hardly rings at all and no one is disturbing our peace. We would be highly upset if that law were to change. It's working for us. I don't need anyone telling me what I need to buy.